Science fiction is a popular kind of writing, and many people think of Jules Verne as the father of science fiction. He was born in France in 1828. His father wanted him to become a lawyer, but from his early twenties Verne decided to become a writer. At first he wrote plays for the theater. Then, in 1863, he wrote a story called Five Weeks in a Balloon. The success of this book encouraged him to write more stories such as A Journey to the Center of the Earth (1864) and From the Earth to the Moon (1865).

In the 19th century, many people were interested in science and inventions. Jules Verne wrote about scientific subjects in his stories and, as a result, they were very popular. Verne's writing included many predictions(预言) for the 20th century and many of them came true. He described space flight, movies, and air conditioning, a long time before they appeared. These books were very successful and they made Verne rich. Jules Verne's books have been the subjects for many movies. 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea was a successful movie for Walt Disney. It was the first Disney movie to use real actors instead of cartoon drawings. Around the World in Eighty Days is another famous movie based on one of Verne's books. The main character is an Englishman called Phileas Fogg. For him, the most important thing is to be always on time!

- ()51. What does the phrase "the father of science fiction" mean?
- A. The father who has several children.
 - B. The man who loves science and inventions.
 - C. The writer whose father wrote science fiction.
 - D. The man who first started writing science fiction successfully.
- ()52. What encouraged Jules Verne to write more stories?
- A. The plays he wrote for the theater.
 - B. The encouragement from his father.
 - C. The success of Five Weeks in a Balloon.
 - D. The scientific subjects in his stories.
- ()53. Why were Jules Verne's books very popular in the 19th century?
- A. Because his books made him rich and famous.
 - B. Because he wrote many plays for the theater at that time.
 - C. Because his books have been the subjects for many movies.
 - D. Because many people were interested in science and inventions.
- ()54. Which of the following has the main character called Phileas Fogg?
- A. Five Weeks in a Balloon.
 - B. Around the World in Eighty Days.
 - C. A Journey to the Center of the Earth.
 - D. From the Earth to the Moon.
- ()55. According to the passage, which of the following is TRUE?
- A. Jules Verne only wrote plays in the 19th century.
 - B. Many of the predictions in Verne's stories came true.
 - C. The main characters in Verne's books are always on time.
 - D. The space flight Verne described was different from others.

C

Gloria is a famous hostess of a TV station. When she was 15, she happened to walk into a bookstore in her hometown and began looking at the books on the shelves. The man behind the counter, John Smith, asked if she'd like a job. She needed to start saving for college, so she said yes.

Gloria worked after school and during summer vacations, and the job helped pay for her first year of college. During college she would do many other jobs: she served coffee in the student union, was a hotel cleaner and even made maps for the Forest Service. But selling books was one of the most satisfying jobs.

One day a woman came into the bookstore and asked Gloria for books on cancer. The woman seemed anxious. Gloria showed her practically everything they had and found other books they could order. The woman left the store less worried, and Gloria has always remembered the pride(自豪) she felt in having helped her customer(顾客).

Years later, as a television hostess, Gloria heard about a child who was born with problems with his fingers and hand. His family could not afford an operation, and the boy lived in shame, hiding his hand in his pocket all the time.

Gloria persuaded(说服) her boss to agree to let her do the story. After the story was broadcast, some doctors called, offering to perform the operation for free.

Gloria visited the boy in the hospital after the operation. The first thing he did was to hold up his repaired hand and say, "Thank you." What a sweet sense of satisfaction Gloria felt!

At Smith's bookstore, Gloria always realized she was working for the customers, not the store. Today it's the same. The TV station pays her, but she feels that she should work for the people who watch the programmes, helping them understand the world better.

()56. When did Gloria get her first job?

- A. A few years before college. B. Several years after college.
C. When she was studying at college. D. When she was working in the TV station.

()57. In which part-time job did Gloria feel the happiest?

- A. Cleaning in the hotel. B. Selling books in the bookstore.
C. Serving coffee in the student union. D. Making maps for the Forest Service.

()58. What does the word "she" in the third paragraph refer to(所指)?

- A. The boss. B. The woman. C. Gloria. D. The doctor.

()59. How did Gloria help the child get the operation he needed?

- A. Her boss agreed to raise money. B. She paid for the operation herself.
C. She allowed the boy to show on TV. D. Her news report affected some doctors.

()60. What particularly gives her the feeling of pride?

- A. Helping people through her work. B. Reporting interesting stories.
C. Being able to do different jobs well. D. Paying for her college education herself.

In many big cities in the world, the overuse of cars is thought to be one of the major causes of air pollution. What will cars be like 86 in the future?

Some experts think that today's cars are in trouble because 87 they use too much petrol (汽油). They say the car of the future will be much, much smaller. The car of tomorrow will be made 88 without a motor or air conditioning. It'll have no radio and no lights. Tomorrow's car will be an 89 air car with no doors or windows. It needn't have a pollution control system because it won't 90 use petrol. In fact, this new car will be pushed by the driver's feet. Very few people will be killed in accidents, because the top speed 91 will be five miles per hour. However, we are also warned not to ask for pretty cars 92, because the cars will come in grey only.

Other car experts do not hold the same idea. They are sure 93 that the future will be happier. They think that all our problems will soon be solved by car companies with the production of the Supercar. Tomorrow's car will be bigger, faster, and more comfortable than 94. The Supercar will have four rooms, TVs, running water, heat, air conditioning, and maybe a swimming pool. Large families will travel on long 95 trips comfortably. If petrol is in short supply (供给), the Supercar will run on water.

My English Learning English is a very important subject at school. With the help of the teacher, my English has improved a lot. I can remember most of the words I have learned. Of all the activities I like pair work best, because I enjoy working with my classmates. For me the most difficult part is speaking. We don't often have the chance to speak English so I find it really useful to take an active in class discussions. However, I am still very weak at listening. I think I must listen to more English stories and tapes. And I believe I can learn English well by doing so in the future.

Boys and girls, please stay together. Let's hurry up and begin our class trip to the museum. The visit starts on the first floor. Pay attention to the information about the technology in the old days. Spend as much time as you can looking at everything, because we won't come back.

Then we' ll go upstairs to the second floor. After we arrive at the Inventors of the 20th Century Room, please read the invention stories and look at some modern inventions as well. While you look at these inventions, think about how they can make our lives more comfortable.

When you have finished looking at the things on show, take a lift up to the fourth floor. You can go to the cafe for a drink, but don't stay too long. If you want to know more about the museum, you can buy books or magazines, or ask the guide for help. Remember: the most helpful way is to search the museum' s website and download everything you need. I'm looking forward to reading the reports about your visit next Monday.
