Life is full of chances and challenges. For students, if we don't study hard, 16, we will fall 17 other students. At first, I didn't know 18 the word "exam" meant. Later, I knew an exam was a 19 of competition. In competitions, there were always 20 and losers. As I grew up, I got to know competitions well. In one's life, there must be competitions, so people could 21.

Each time I saw children 22 games, and heard their laughter, I 23 I were that age again. However, I remembered my parents' words--You must work very hard 24 have a good future. So I 25 up my pen and began to study hard again.

I was still not 26 what competitions really meant. One day, I was 27 an English-speaking competition. When I went to the stage, I saw other students looking at me kindly. I suddenly knew what the competition was. It was not as cruel 28 my teacher and parents told me. In fact, competitions were important and necessary.

I learned a lot 29 what I experienced. Now I understand 30 about the world. Competitions are important for us all.

Musical chairs is a popular game played among students at schools or parties. Do you know how to play it? The only things you need are chairs and music. One person will control the music.

You can use a piano or any other musical instrument to make music. You can also use a tape-recorder or radio. Place a number of chairs in line or in circle with their backs to each other. The number of chairs should be one less than the number of people playing the game. Ask the players to circle around the chairs before the music begins. Once the music starts, they should walk around the chairs. If the music is fast, they should walk quickly. If the music is slow, they should walk slowly.

When the music stops, all players must try to take the seat that is closest to them. If a person can't find a chair to sit on, he will be removed from the game. One of the chairs is also taken away from the circle. When the music stops again, another player will be out.

At last, there are two players and one chair left. When the music stops again, the person who sits on the chair is the winner.

Choose the best answer from A, B or C according to what you read.

51. Which of the following is NOT suitable for playing the music while playing the game?

55. _____ is the winner at last.
A. The person who is running fast of all
B. The person who sits on the chair after the music stops again
C. The person who is removed from the game

If you often watch TV, you must remember the popular show, Home with Kids. 17-year-old Xia Xue and 14-year-old Liu Xing are just like our classmates. We do love them, but are they good students? And what makes a good student?

“A good student should always get good grades. Xia Xue is a much better student than her brother, Liu Xing,” says Wang Lin, 16, a student from Wuxi in Jiangsu Province. “The boy should work harder at his lessons, since our duty is to be good students.”

Most people in China think about that getting good grades is important to a student. So, to someone, being a model student means being a top student in studies in the class. However, a student’s personality is more important than being a model student.

Many students think it is a bad idea to judge a student only by his or her grades. Take the boy, Liu Xing, for example, he is clever, good at computers and does many things better than other 14-year-old boys. Do you think he is good or bad?

Choose the best answer from A, B or C according to what you read.

56. Which of the following is Wang Lin’s idea?
A. Liu Xing is better than Xia Xue.
B. Personality is less important than grades.
C. A good student should have good grades.

One day the little boy Tony told a lie to his mother. That night he felt very unhappy. He did not want to play with the other children. He sat on the doorstep alone. He looked up in the sky and saw the big round moon. He thought that it was looking down on him, because it knew about the lie.

He ran down the street to get away from it, but it kept following him. Then he ran into the house and went to bed, but the moon looked at him through the window. He pulled the sheet over his head, but he could not sleep. Then he crawled under the bed and lay there in the dark. He thought and thought about the lie. Then he decided to tell his mother bravely all about it. He told her the truth and promised never to tell a lie again. At last his mother forgave him. He went back to bed and was soon fast asleep.

Did you have the same experience like Tony? So dear friends, try to be an honest man and you will be always calm and confident.

Fill in the blanks according to the passage. Only one word for each blank.

One day Tony told a lie to his mother so he didn't feel very 61 that night. He wanted to be alone without any other child. Wangfujing, a seven hundred-year-old commercial(商业的)street, starts with East Chang'an Avenue in the south and ends with China Art Gallery in the north. It has a wide variety of shops where you can find all kinds of goods, some of which are from world-famous brands. Nowadays it is a modern commercial street which is said to be the sister street of the Champs-Elysees in Paris. You will also find jewelry(珠宝), make-up, wines, tea shops, cafes and a whole bunch of Chinese and Western fast food restaurants.

Also, there is Foreign Language Bookstore in this area. The street has many outdoor places to sit under an umbrella with a cold beer, coffee or ice cream during the summer. There are beautiful sculptures on both street sides showing the life of old Beijing.

Xiushui Street is a good place to buy cheaper goods and a lot of foreigners in Beijing come here often. Whatever you want to buy, like bags, shoes, handicrafts(手工艺品) or sweaters, you can bargain with the owners. It is open from 9:00 am to 9:00 pm.

In fact, the fun of the place may not come in looking for the best bag or shirt, but it comes in the bargaining. The more you bargain, the better price you may get. Besides, it is one of places in Beijing where foreigners can buy clothes and shoes in large sizes.

Please finish the following questions according to the requirements.

66. How old is Wangfujing?
